The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

Happy Birthday, George!

Noting that George Washington's Birthday is near at hand, a well-written communication from Julia A. Shelhamer, of Wilmore, Kentucky, offers this editor some revealing insight into the character of the man who was to be our first president.

It was during the French and Indian War. The battle was hot. General Braddock, who had brought from England an army of well-trained soldiers and officers, lay dead—killed by the Indians!

The whole army of English and American boys was dreadfully discouraged. Their (then) modern warfare was not a match for those illiterate Indians who were likely to rush in upon them any moment with their war whoops and poisoned arrows. Our men knew that they should flee at once, but they did not want to leave alone in the woods the body of their beloved general, cold and stiff in death. It likely would be mutilated by the Indians; and besides, our loyal-hearted men did not want him to be buried without some sort of a funeral.

But their chaplain was mortally wounded, and not one of those dignified officers with high-sounding titles knew what to do. It was a dreadful moment; every one seemed petrified with fear and horror!

Suddenly a tall angular young fellow in number eleven boots strode into their midst. He was not a commissioned officer and had no title except that of "aide-de-camp" to General Braddock. But his keen eye took in the whole situation at once. He realized that something had to be done quickly.

So, stepping to the side of his beloved general, he stood over him with closed eyes in silent prayer. Then quietly he drew from his pocket a little book with which he seemed as familiar as some young men are with a deck of cards or a pack of cigarettes. His knowing fingers turned the pages quickly to Scripture appropriate to the occasion, and in a clear voice he read, "If a man die shall he live again?" and kindred passages, following with the ritual for burial of the dead. Lifting his voice in fervent prayer, he committed the soul of the departed to God, then turned the body over to the English officers for burial.

If Indians could find the grave they would be quite sure to take up the body to get its red uniform; therefore the grave was dug in the middle of the road so traffic would obliterate all traces of the burial. All this was done so quietly and quickly that before the Indians arrived our army had escaped to safety.

But who was that tall young man who saved the day? It was twenty-three-year-old George Washington! Where did he get the training that enabled him to take charge so quickly with such wisdom, dignity, and reverence?

When George was eleven years of age his father died. The young heartbroken wife and mother, overwhelmed with grief and responsibility, saw that she could not take her husband's place in looking after the children's spiritual needs without assistance. She asked George to take full responsibility for conducting daily family worship. It was not an easy task to get the little ones together regularly for prayer, for usually children do not like to be told what to do by one of their own number. But George was patient, diplomatic, and God-fearing. With this experience he learned to govern without friction; a preparation he would need for governing a nation!

Besides, the unusual task his mother had assigned prepared him well on the solemn occasion of General Braddock's sudden death.

$14 Million Low Bid For Hospital Wing

A low bid of $14,399,000 was received last week by Grossmont Hospital for construction of a new wing to be added east of the present structure.

Huber, Hunt and Nichols, Inc., of Santa Clara, was the lowest of seven bidders on the planned expansion. The firm is currently working on construction of the new Federal Building in downtown San Diego, and if it wins the contract, will have its heavy equipment close to the site.

Hospital Administrator Ron Dahlgren said the contract will be awarded April 4, and construction should begin April 9, about a two-week delay from a March target date set earlier.

The addition, due for completion in three years, will enlarge the hospital by about 80 percent, Dahlgren said.

Other bidders included Montgomery Ross Fisher, Los Angeles, $15,300,000; G. L. Cory Construction Co., San Diego, $15,478,441; C. V. Holder Inc., Gardena, $15,800,000; William Simpson Co., San Diego, $16,077,000; Riha Construction, La Mesa, $16,000,000; and T. G. I. Construction, Los Angeles, $16,500,000.

Dick Brown Speaks To LGPA Tonight

Second District Supervisor Dick Brown will speak at the meeting tonight at 7:30 o'clock in Golden Avenue School of the Lemon Grove Planning Association. The planners completed text and map are now at the printers, and are scheduled to be mailed to members by the end of February, according to Carolyn Moss, secretary of the organization.

Copies will also be available at a later date to the public, she added.

CHECKOUT—Dr. George Brassington, right, checks the heart chart of Dr. Tom Scott as Dr. Scott completes tests for evaluating cardiorespiratory fitness and early detection of coronary heart disease. More than 220 lay people took the same tests Sunday.

Tests Here Show Heart's Ability to Regain Normalcy

Will you die too soon of a heart attack?

The answer to this was given to more than 220 people Sunday during a physical fitness evaluation at the Seventh-Day Adventist church facility in La Mesa.

The church sponsored the program after Lemon Grove's Dr. George Brassington and College area's Dr. Tom Scott encouraged the church's minister, the Rev. Mr. John Duesme to make it a community project.

And what a project! Many found they had a better chance of dying in an auto accident. Others learned that their heart was so lacking in health that recovery from a heart attack was not likely.

Two certainties evolved. One: the heart's health of those undergoing the tests was a matter of concern. Two: In most instances, heart exercise could improve the condition of the weakened heart.

To these, a program of such an exercise was suggested.

When Dr. Scott learned that Loma Linda University had developed a heart health testing program under Dr. Charles Thomas, assistant professor of Loma Linda's School of Health, he asked the La Mesa Seventh Day Adventist church to bring the school's physical fitness evaluation team here.

Uses Treadmill Tests, built around a treadmill, show the medical condition of the patient's heart and determine whether or not the patient can withstand exercise needed to bring the heart to a more normal condition.

Armed with this information, the patient can decide whether he is willing to condition himself in order to enjoy several more years of life than he would have otherwise.

UCSD Health Survey Begins In Lemon Grove Tomorrow

Lemon Grove will be one of the areas, beginning tomorrow, in which University of California, San Diego, school of medicine researchers will take a health survey.

The survey will be used to evaluate the health of the local communities, and may later be used as an index to determine world wide health standards.

On Friday, 30 surveyors will begin contacting homes in preselected areas of the county with the goal of interviewing 900 to 1,000 persons.

The interviews are based on a two-part survey developed by UCSD School of Medicine researchers, Drs. James W. Bush, Assistant Professor of Community Medicine; Robert M. Kaplan, Assistant Professor of Psychology; and Charles C. Berry, Assistant Research Sociologist in the Department of Community Medicine.

The first part of the survey is a simple check-list that indicates the interviewee's state of health; the second part measures the desirability of certain health states. In the latter section he is given a number of brief patient "case descriptions" that describe age, mobility and symptoms, and is asked to indicate how he feels about that person's level of function by choosing a number between 0 (least desirable) and 10 (most desirable).

Through this dual-topic survey, that determines the individual's state of health and what "healthy" means to him, the surveyors are able to assess the community-wide level of health, and the community's accepted standard of "health."

The development of this "Health Index" is of national and world applicability because it makes possible the evaluation of any community's health programs, and the effectiveness of the medical care that is available.

Helix Water District Runoff at 1,200 Acre Feet, Down From 1973

Helix Water District's runoff in Lake Cuyamaca, El Capitan Reservoir and Lake Jennings totaled 1,200 acre feet during the first seven months of the current fiscal year, compared to 1,650 acre feet for the same period last year.

As part of his monthly summary, Al Mathison, District hydrologist, also reported rainfall at Lake Jennings has been 7.8 inches since July 1, 1973, compared to 9.2 inches during the first seven months of the 1972-73 fiscal year.

At Lake Cuyamaca, 15 inches of rain have fallen this year as against 25.4 inches last year.

Because of accumulated water in storage from last year, projects budgeted for the fiscal year will be completed during the year, so any excess over budget is temporary.

"Because of runoff storage from last winter, we have had to purchase less water than budgeted during the first half of this fiscal year. This is also probably a temporary situation," Miller added.

Although income is up over estimates by 1.9 percent, partly because rainfall this year has been below normal, it would be impossible to predict now the runoff for the remainder of the year and the effects a little," reported Byron Miller, general manager.

According to Miller, all

Broadway Parking Plan Delayed Because Of Poor Meeting Attendance

County officials outnumbering of the Broadway committee property owners, five to three, at Monday night's meeting to discuss proposals to develop adequate parking between Imperial Avenue and Kempf Street.

In addition to County Engineer Al Boggs, Henry Blankenship, Race Wilt, Walt Pearcey and Ken Karns were on hand to explain the county's proposals to only a dozen interested persons—a few businessmen, the three property owners and a couple of on-lookers. Consequently, action on the proposal was delayed until a future meeting.

Before the meeting began, President Dell Lake of the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce, declared: "If we don't get a turnout tonight, I'd better not hear any more complaints" about Broadway.

Committee Chairman Jim Dorman suggested that perhaps complacency has set in among the merchants along Broadway who a few short weeks ago were complaining bitterly about the county installation of curb dividers along Broadway.

"Most merchants," he said, "are satisfied with the situation as it is now." More entrances in the curb dividers were cut by county road crews shortly after the first of the year, allowing freer access to the parking area in front of businesses. That was the major complaint heard in Lemon Grove during the Christmas shopping season.

Boggs presented a plan which had been approved by the committee, calling for blacktopping the parking area and providing 166 parking spaces at a cost of $64,000 or 172 parking spots at $69,000. Blankenship told the spectators that 30 degree angle parking in front of stores will be supplemented by parallel parking along the curb dividers.

He also reported that the median strip, now a bone of contention among some store operators, would be removed and replaced with a two-way turn lane. Asked why all dividers could not be removed, Boggs replied that they served as traffic controls in what the California Highway Patrol last year called the county's "worst accident" area.

Blankenship asserted there is no perfect plan but "this is the best alternate, providing the maximum width for parking."

Larry Scott, manager of Winchell's Donut Shop on Broadway, said the additional openings have improved traffic to his store. He wants the center divider removed, but would not want to see the curbs taken out.

Boggs said he would like to see what happens to the Lemon Grove Woman's Club proposal to put flagpoles in the center median "before we take the rest of this out. What do we do with the flagpoles?" he asked.

The plan will call for a reduction in width of the sidewalks along both north and south sides of the street and would provide for a 20 foot wide parking area on both sides of the thoroughfare.

John Graham, owner of the Purple Turtle on Broadway's south side, volunteered to contact all 33 property owners on the boulevard to attempt a better turnout at the next meeting. No date has yet been set for the confab.

150 Acre Dedication

Dedication of almost 150 acres as an extension to the Torrey Pines State Reserve will be held at 3 p.m. today with William Penn Mott Jr., state director of parks and recreation, the principal speaker.

Service Area Ballot March 5 Explained

Race Wilt, service area coordinator for San Diego County, explained the March 5 election to a sparse group of Lemon Grove residents attending Monday night's meeting of the Broadway committee.

Wilt said that if all three proposals are adopted on the special ballot, the tax rate in the service area will rise 41 cents—12 cents for beautification along Broadway and the railroad median, 13 cents to acquire, develop and maintain the Mt. Vernon-Berry park, and 16 cents for an 18 acre park in the Encanto Annexation area of San Diego city.

Each proposal will be separately considered in the service area ballot. If the Encanto annexation proposal fails to pass in both Lemon Grove and the adjoining acreage, the 16 cent tax will not be imposed, Wilt said.

Wilt emphasized that the tax rates would be the maximum, and would not necessarily be assessed to the full amount after the first year. The Mt. Vernon-Berry park, he said, will be acquired by a loan and Housing and Urban Development funds. After the loan is repaid, taxpayers will be assessed only that amount necessary for park maintenance, he declared.

If the Encanto annexation—which is to Service Area 52 for park purposes only—is successful, certain residents of that area, Wilt asserted, will be paying park taxes twice, once to the city and once to the county.

The 12 cent tax for Broadway and railroad enhancement will not be included in the service area, he said. However, voters must approve the proposal, which would provide for beautification of Broadway from Imperial to the Bowlero and the railroad median from North Avenue to, eventually, Massachusetts. Primary installation will be paid for by using county funds, Wilt reported, with the tax being used for maintenance.

HOLTHUSEN

Retirement Planned By Area Banker

Harry H. Holthusen, who has been president of Imperial Savings and Loan Association, San Diego, since 1962, and a director since 1953, announced that he will retire effective June 30.

Holthusen joined the association 27 years ago when it operated a single office in La Mesa and had assets of about $500,000. Later, a major branch was opened in Lemon Grove.

In the nearly three decades he has been with the association, it has become San Diego County's largest state-chartered S & L, with assets of nearly $750 million and 32 offices serving virtually all of southern California. Imperial Savings is a subsidiary of Imperial Corporation of America.

Holthusen is a director and a member of the executive committee of the California Savings and Loan League. He is also a trustee of San Diego's Lincoln Club of San Diego County, trustee of Republican Associates of San Diego County and a member of the State Republican Central Committee and the San Diego Lions Club.

He is a past president of the Savings and Loan Clearing Association of San Diego County; Society of Real Estate Appraisers, San Diego Chapter; American Savings and Loan Institute, San Diego Chapter; Savings and Loan Controllers Society; the La Mesa Chamber of Commerce and La Mesa Lions Club.

He has served as chairman of the San Diego Commercial and Industrial Division of the United Fund for 1972 and chairman of the East County United Fund Campaign in 1960, and has been a member of various committees for raising funds for philanthropic organizations.

Over 800,000 Boy Scout Names Will Go In Orbit February 23

Boy Scouts from San Diego County Council and the Western United States will be launching a missile launch watching a missile launch from Vandenberg AFB, California, next month with special interest.

The Western Region, Boy Scouts of America, with the cooperation of Great Britain, U.S. Air Force, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), and several

U.S. aerospace industries will launch into orbit the names of more than 800,000 Scouts. The names will all be on a microdot manufactured from signed scrolls by Rockwell International and placed on the United Kingdom payload by LTV.

The launch will be conducted February 27 from Vandenberg by the Air Force's 6395th Aerospace Test Wing and NA-

SA's Unmanned Launch Operations Division.

The event is a combination of coincidences, which though not planned, were noticed by the agencies involved as a "natural" for the Boy Scouts. First, the launch date falls in February, the Scout anniversary month. Second, the payload is from Great Britain where Scouting was originated in 1907, and finally, the space booster to be used is the Scout, a four-stage solid-fueled rocket booster used routinely by NASA and the Air Force at Vandenberg.

Signing the scrolls for microdotting and eventual orbit originated and developed as a Scout recruiting drive in the Western Region. The theme for the membership drive which was conducted September through December 1973 was "First in Space."

In the Western Region, comprised of Alaska, California, Nevada, Utah, Washington, Oregon, Hawaii, Idaho, Arizona, Southwest Wyoming, and the Far East, more than 800,000 Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, Explorer Scouts, and Scout leaders who were registered during the drive signed the scrolls.

Over 6,000 names from San Diego County alone appear on the scrolls.

The scrolls are presently at Rockwell International where they are being photographed and reduced to one microdot, about 1 inch in diameter, which will then be affixed to the payload at Vandenberg by engineers of Vought Missiles and Space Company, a division of the Main Scout vehicle contractor, LTV Aerospace Corporation.

According to Western Region Scout Executive Richard R. Harrington, more than 50,000 Scouts were registered for the first time during the "First in Space" drive. Each of the Scouts will receive his own wallet card certifying that his name was launched into space by the Scout and will orbit the earth on the payload.

The spacecraft itself, designated SCOUT-181 is part of the United Kingdom X-4 program. NASA made the arrangements to launch the United Kingdom vehicle from Vandenberg in cooperation with the Air Force.

The USAF/Boy Scout Liaison Office, located at Hamilton Air Force Base, worked in cooperation with the 6395th Aerospace Test Wing Scout Operations Division, LTV, and NASA officials to coordinate the details and to clear the way with the United Kingdom for the Scout microdot to be launched.

LOCAL ARTIST SHOWS—Spring Valley artist, Donna Leavitt, today concludes a two man show with potter Carroll Crannell at the Artist's Cooperative Gallery in San Diego. Miss Leavitt, whose pieces include both drawing and sticheries, makes bold use of different fibers and textures and her recent travels to Israel and Africa has served as inspiration for many of her latest works. Also shown are the works of the 28 other members of the Cooperative, which is located at 3731 India Street in San Diego.

Vans For Handicapped Bought By Grossmont

Physically limited residents Charles T. Seymour, health officer; John Schmidt, counselor for the handicapped and the opportunity to attend Marilyn Thurston, health service intern from San Diego State University, Students Limited produced a slide-tape presentation illustrating the problem and providing a solution. The slide presentation was shown to a number of service clubs and community organizations with the object of obtaining contributions for the purchase of two vans. The Grossmont College Development Foundation had agreed to assist in their drive and handle the funds collected.

For years the idea of attending Grossmont College was a dream for many physically limited students. Two years ago, physically limited students who were able to secure transportation to the college, formed a group called "Students Limited." One of their goals was to provide transportation for all physically limited students who wanted to attend the college. Students Limited felt that a solution to the transportation problem would be the purchase of two specially modified vans.

Under the guidance of the Grossmont Community College District will now have the opportunity to attend Marilyn Thurston, health service intern from San Diego State University, Students Limited produced a slide-tape presentation illustrating the problem and providing a solution. The slide presentation was shown to a number of service clubs and community organizations with the object of obtaining contributions for the purchase of two vans. The Grossmont College Development Foundation had agreed to assist in their drive and handle the funds collected.

"I ordered a plain omelette," she fumed. "This is a plain omelette," said Geri. The woman was disgusted. "I meant one without eggs!"

Spring Valley Fire Report

The Spring Valley Fire Department answered eight fire calls and 15 ambulance calls for the week of Feb. 4-11. The fire calls were all to small blazes and most of the ambulance calls were minor. However, there were three important ambulance runs.

On Feb. 4, at 10:42 a.m., the ambulance was dispatched to an auto accident at 9112 Lamar st. There, Timothy Williams, 29, was picked up and taken to a hospital, after being injured in the accident. He was reported to have sustained lacerations. He lives at 9511 Lamar.

On Feb. 5, the ambulance was called to 10702 Hansen lane, Carriage Hills. They picked up 5-year old Lesh Smithson and took her to Paradise Valley Hospital, after she suffered an odd mishap. It seems she caught her head in a crank-type window of a car and after being released was not breathing. A San Diego policeman passing by, gave her mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, until the S.V. ambulance arrived.

Feb. 6 the ambulance was called to 21165 Helix st. Mailon Milne, 69, was dead on arrival of the ambulance.

You and Your Pet

By Raymond A. Minor, D.V.M.

Manager, Veterinary Services

Norden Laboratories Like all living creatures, the cat has certain nutritional requirements. And to stay healthy, a cat must be properly fed.

The task of feeding the 22 million family-owned cats in America has been made easier with the surge in production of prepared cat food. Right now, cat foods account for a substantial part of the 115 varieties of pet foods available on the market.

There are canned, dry and semi-moist foods available with a variety of flavors and ingredients. Your veterinarian can tell which have the proper nutritional balance.

A cat can exist entirely on prepared food. But it may not choose to let it. For those who do not wish to depend solely on cans and packages, here is a brief guide:

SCRAPS: Leftovers may be good, poor, or even worthless depending on what they are. Meat, fish and poultry are best, but even bread and butter can be good for your cat.

MILK: It has been called the cat's best friend and a "complete food." But it is practical only to a point. A cat cannot normally hold enough for it to be the sole source of protein.

EGGS: Are good for cats of any age. Egg yolks, a fine source of minerals, fats and vitamins, can be eaten raw. But the egg whites should be cooked to be easily digested.

VEGETABLES: With some exceptions, the ordinary cat will not eat them — unless accompanied by goodly portions of meat or fish. Vegetables are useful for their laxative properties.

As to the amount of food required by a cat, there is sharp disagreement among experts. Perhaps the best guide is your own observation or the advice of your local veterinarian.

If your cat cleans his plate, keeps his weight down and remains active and good-natured, his food intake is probably right.

If he doesn't finished his dinner, common sense would indicate you are giving him too much. When in doubt, visit your veterinarian.

Remember that kittens or pregnant queens have different food needs. They will need more frequent feedings and sometimes different nutrients than the average adult cat.

As for care of cat food, the rules for human consumption should be followed. Frozen food should be used soon after thawing. Milk and opened cans of food should be refrigerated.

Dr. Minor regrets that he is unable to personally answer letters from pet owners. He suggests that readers consult their own veterinarians when their pets have problems.

Ag Energy Use Relatively Small

California's huge, diversified agricultural industry uses only 5.1 percent of all the energy consumed in the state, and it uses more natural gas than any other form of energy.

These are the two main points contained in a 150-page report entitled "Energy Requirements For Agriculture In California," the result of a joint study undertaken by the state's Department of Food and Agriculture and the Department of Agriculture Engineering, University of California at Davis.

Oil Output Off

California's oil and natural gas production continued to decline during 1973 according to a report released recently by the Division of Oil and Gas.

Oil production last year was 316 million barrels, nearly three percent below 1972 figures. Natural gas output declined even more, with production down ten percent, from 542.8 billion cubic feet in 1972 to 487 billion cubic feet in 1973.

VA Drops Interest Rate On GI Home Loans .25 Percent

A one-quarter percent reduction in the maximum G.I. home loan interest rate became effective January 22, it was announced by Donald E. Johnson, Administrator of Veterans Affairs.

In ordering a drop from 8.5 to 8.25 percent on Veterans Administration loans, Johnson also noted that the new lower rate has been established for FHA loans by the Secretary for Housing and Urban Development.

A law enacted in July 1973 authorizes the VA Administrator to set interest rates on G.I. loans in line with market conditions following consultation with the HUD Secretary.

Editor: As a member of the Valley d' Oro Planning Association (Citizens Planning Group), I feel our group and other similar groups have been grossly maligned. We have been accused of dragging our feet in developing our community plans, and consequently wasting a tremendous amount of money. Therefore, county staff support has been withdrawn. Valley d' Oro Planning Association has completed the community goals and in keeping with the widely circulated questionnaire results. We feel these goals will be accepted by our community.

I think the County Board of Supervisors should support the presentation of these goals to the community. Sincerely, Glenn D. Lindeneau 9022 Koonce Place Spring Valley

Best Time To Buy Savings Bonds: Now

"Today is the best, not the worst, time to buy U.S. Savings Bonds," the board chairman of American Telephone & Telegraph Co., said here last week.

"Despite the energy shortage, Watergate, pollution and inflation—which have created a pervasive attitude of negativism—this is the best time to buy bonds," John D. de Butts said in a speech prepared for a meeting of San Diego business leaders at the Sheraton Inn Airport.

Horse Tax Due

If you own a racehorse and haven't as yet paid the Annual Racehorse Tax, you'd better trot down to the local county tax collector, State Board of Equalization Member John W. Lynch reminds racehorse owners.

The tax became due on January 1, 1974, on horses domiciled in a county at 12:01 a.m. on that date and must be paid prior to February 15, 1974, to avoid delinquency penalties.

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. Can you still deduct state gasoline taxes on your Federal income tax return?

A. Yes. If you itemize on your 1973 return, state and local taxes on gasoline, diesel fuel, and other motor fuels are deductible if they are separately stated and passed on to the consumer. Use the table in your Form 1040 instructions to determine your deduction.

Q. Is there a "revenue sharing" question on 1973 returns?

A. For purposes of revenue sharing, the only information you have to give on your return is your county of residence. See the instructions for either Form 1040 or Form 1040A.

Q. My son earned more than $750 last year. Can I still claim him as a dependent?

A. If, regardless of his age, your son was a full-time student for some part of each of any five months of 1973 or was less than 19 years old at the end of the year, you can claim him as a dependent regardless of how much money he made. Of course, all other dependency tests must be met, including furnishing more than one-half of your son's total support.

Q. What happened to Schedule B of my tax form—the schedule I used to detail interest and dividend income?

A. Schedule B has been eliminated, since a detailed listing of dividends and interest is no longer required. Simply report your total dividend and interest income in the space provided on the front of your Federal income tax return. Of course, you should still keep a record of your individual dividend and interest receipts.

Q. I received a short form 1040A in the mail. How can I tell if I should use this short form or the long form 1040?

A. If you received a short form 1040A in the mail, it was sent to you based on the return you filed last year. But your situation may have changed and you may save money by filing Form 1040 instead. This is especially true if your itemized deductions are substantial, or if you are eligible for the retirement income credit. Just use the short formula set out in your Form 1040A instruction to help determine whether your tax could be lower if you itemize deductions.

Q. The person I paid to fill out my tax return has not signed it. Should I make sure that he does?

A. Yes. Anyone who prepares your return for compensation is required to sign it in the space provided. Spaces are also provided for the preparer's employer identification number or social security number, his address, and the date he signs the return. If he refuses to sign, you should print his name in the space provided.

Q. Will the IRS still figure out a person's tax liability, if he or she wants it to?

A. Yes. If you use Form 1040, the Internal Revenue Service will figure out your tax if your adjusted gross income is $20,000 or less and was only from wages or salaries and tips, dividends, interest, pensions and annuities. You take the standard deduction and file your return by the due date. If you use the short form 1040A, the IRS will compute your tax, regardless of the amount of income you have, if your income consists only of wages or salaries and tips, dividends and interest, and you file by the due date. For more details, see your tax form instructions.

Peter Chacon Lists Goals For Expanded 79th District

Peter Chacon, assemblyman of the 79th District—a part of which belongs to Assemblyman Wadie Deddeh until the Fall elections—covered a wide range of subjects in an informal visit to Lemon Grove on Friday.

"Because I am Mexican-American I am sensitive to being trapped by Mexican-American issues," he said. "Mexican-Americans fall into all the economic groups as do other Americans. What's good for all of my constituency is good for Mexican-Americans," he said.

Chacon, who has no qualms about reelection, will add Lemon Grove and Coronado to his district in December, soon after the general election.

He laughingly calls himself a "Deddeh Democrat". "Wadie has a tremendous feeling for his people," Chacon said, "I intend to follow his policies as they concern the east county. Actually," he said "I am not labeled. I am not ultra liberal nor conservative. I believe in responsible government, careful of the use of the people's tax dollars. I believe that government should do only the things that the people cannot do for themselves."

He said that transportation, electric power, and perhaps oil production and distribution should be a matter of government concern.

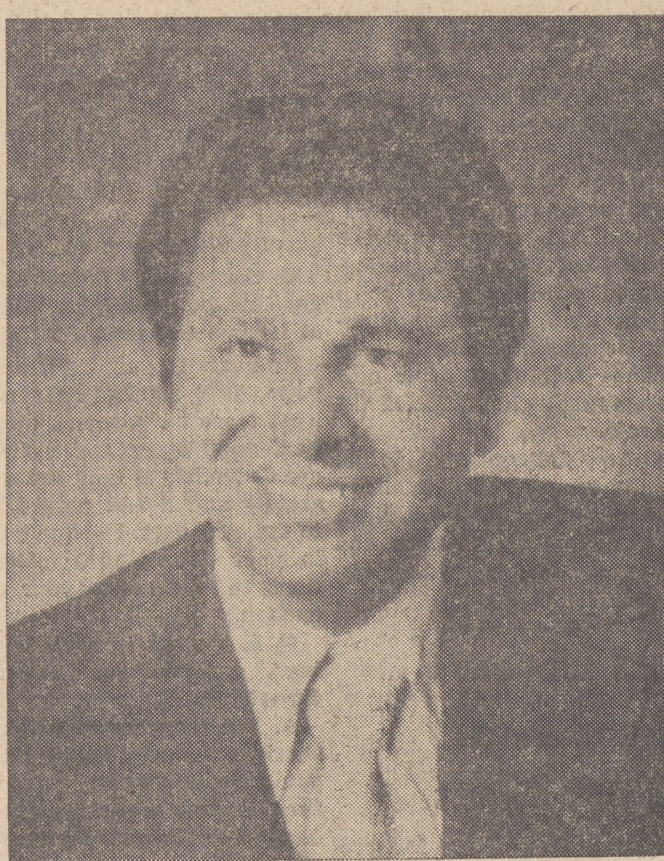

Oil Data Missing

"Oil should be under Public Utilities Commission control. I do not believe the oil companies have provided us with accurate data."

The single most important issue that holds his attention is housing for moderate income families and the elderly poor. More than 2,500 elderly poor are without adequate housing in his district, he said.

In addition to supplying needed housing, such development will aid the job-depressed construction industry, he said.

He also noted that health and education are fields that government should be concerned about. "We must take bold strides in the areas where the public interest is not being properly served," he said.

He has strong opinions regarding welfare. "I agree with Governor Reagan on the welfare point that people able to work should work. Welfare made alcoholics out of many Indians and we're doing the same for people on welfare today. We must make educational opportunities and provide them with jobs. The average person doesn't want to be on welfare," Chacon said. He admitted that the welfare industry had created a breed of public employee which puts self-interest ahead of welfare clients.

Chacon Communicates

Chacon says his district operates smoothly for several reasons. "One reason is communications. We have easy and frequent communications with the people in my district," he noted. Another is his belief in a strong advisory committee. "Leaders in our advisory council believe strongly in good government through public participation. Much of the communication

Continuing Automobile Use Seen By Federal Task Force

Increases in motor vehicle use which has been a leading factor in the nation's social and economic growth will continue, according to a government task force.

Historically, the automobile has given Americans a choice of where they live, work and enjoy their leisure. As the nation became auto-oriented, it experienced an accelerated growth rate for existing businesses and industries and the birth of many new ones. Motor vehicles stimulated the building of a vast network of improved roads that helped urbanize the country, opened up new markets and enabled a greater proportion of our citizens to share in the fruits of modern technology.

A Presidential advisory group, the Task Force on Land Use and Urban Growth, noted in a recent report that, by the year 2000, five-sixths of the U. S. population is expected to live in urban regions—compared to four-fifths today. By the close of this century, the population will increase by 54 million, 36 million of which will be in suburban areas.

The task force has predicted that, in such future urban regions, job locations will be more dispersed with fewer high-volume traffic corridors that can be effectively served by mass transit. Thus, people are expected to have greater needs for automobiles than they do today.

The Department of Transportation estimates that motor vehicle registrations will increase 50 percent between 1970 and 1990 and that the number of miles traveled within urban areas will more than double. To serve this travel demand, the Department sees a need in 1990 for approximately 18,000 miles of additional freeways and expressways within the boundaries of urbanized areas.

Such projections translate into many future benefits such as more jobs and a healthier national economy. The manufacture, distribution, servicing, and commercial use of motor vehicles now provide one of every six jobs across the nation with highway transportation accounting for about 17 percent of our Gross National Product.

The VA also conducts research on body chemistry, psychology, and other aspects of alcoholism.

Last year, the Boston VA Outpatient Clinic began treating alcoholics by ambulatory care, placing these patients in hospital beds only when needed for treatment of medical problems related to their drinking.

The program is oriented toward the reality of the situation in which the alcoholic lives, to encourage self-reliance necessary to combat addiction.

Cranston Opposed To Newspapers Giving Space to Opposition

Senator Alan Cranston (D., Calif.) said he would oppose any move in Congress to enact a law that would compel newspapers to print the replies of political candidates whom they have criticized.

"I oppose government editorship of a free press as strongly as I oppose government censorship," Cranston said in remarks prepared for delivery on the Senate floor. He spoke in response to a suggestion yesterday by Senator John McClellan (D., Ark.) that there is a possible need for a "national right to reply law."

"Once the government is given the power to tell newspapers what they must print in the name of 'fairness,'" Cranston said, "it is only a matter of time before the government will be telling newspapers what they must not print—in the name of 'fairness.'"

He said this "dangerous and deplorable" situation already exists in radio and television and pointed to a recent order by the Federal Communications Commission that the National Broadcasting Company has to "balance" with additional programming a recent documentary, "Pensions: The Broken Promise," because of the government's opinion it did not present a fair view of the American pension system.

Senator McClellan told the Senate yesterday that "if the Supreme Court holds there are no Constitutional barriers to right of reply laws, I believe that the Senate might wish to give careful study and consideration to the possibility of enacting a national law similar to the Florida statute."

Gulls Recall Broderick To Bolster Defensive Game

Making a move to bolster the Gulls for the all important upcoming games, General Manager Max McNab has announced that Ken Broderick, last year's Most Valuable Player in the WHL and the first team all-star goaltender, has joined the club.

Broderick comes back to the Gulls on loan from the Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League. He has seen action in five games for the Bruins, compiling a 2-2-1 record and a goals against average of 3.20 goals against average. He has also played in six games with the Boston Braves of the American League, putting together a 3-3-9 record.

"We've got four or five players at half speed recovering from injuries that makes things tough on a goalie," said Max McNab.

"We are not that healthy and we need an experienced goalie to go along with John Adams," stated McNab.

The Gulls will now have three goalies on the roster with Adams, Broderick and rookie Jim Makey. Last season with the Gulls, Broderick enjoyed his greatest year, compiling a 2.94 goals-against-average in 51 games. He was purchased by the Boston Bruins during the off-season.

Broderick is required to remain on the San Diego roster for at least 14 days, meaning he will be with the Gulls for certain through March 3.

The Gulls play the Golden Eagles in Salt Lake Friday. On Saturday they wing to Denver to meet the Spurs.

Griff Groaners Lose on Forfeit

A forfeit in the first scheduled match of last Friday's battle of unbeaten cost the Grossmont College Griffins their bid for the Mission Conference dual wrestling meet championship.

The Griffins did not have a 120-pound wrestler and therefore Palomar picked up six uncontested points. Those proved to be the difference in the match as the visiting Comets went on to win 24-19. Palomar finished the year with a perfect 7-0 Mission mark, while the Griffins ended at 6-1.

The dual meet championship is only half of the conference crown. The remaining half will be decided Friday at Southwestern College when all conference teams take part in the Mission Tournament.

Outstanding efforts by the Griffins were turned in by 144-pounder Fred Van Oosbree who got a pin and by Kevin Clark, who nailed down a superior decision at 152. Jeff Sharp also had a superior decision for the Griffins at 193.

Citizens Plan Group Sets First Meeting

First meeting of the 60-member citizens committee on the county's general plan will be held tomorrow at 8:30 a.m. in the County Health Building in San Diego. Planning Director Bruce Warren announced.

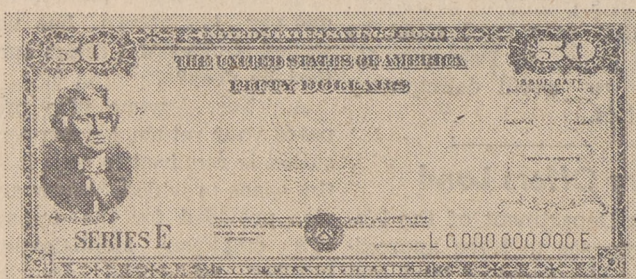

The committee's task will be to prepare, by September 20, six mandatory general plan elements, including conservation, noise, safety and seismic safety, and housing and scenic highways. Three area residents have been named to the committee. They are Grace Conlee of Lemon Grove, to the housing sub-committee; Harriet Allen of Spring Valley, to the conservation sub-committee; and Max Goodwin, publisher of the Lemon Grove Review and Spring Valley Bulletin, to the scenic highways sub-committee.

Arts and Crafts At PTA Meeting

Tonight's meeting of the Mt. Vernon Elementary School PTA will feature arts and crafts displays by pupils and parents and music by the Mt. Miguel Jazz Band under the direction of Ted Adams.

The theme of the meeting, which begins at 7:30, is "Take Time To Create," according to Irene Braun, publicity and chairman for the event. A short business meeting will precede the entertainment.

New higher interest rate on U.S. Savings Bonds.

Now U.S. Savings Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity.

Here's how it works: The higher interest rate applies to all new Bonds purchased since December 1, 1973, raising their rate from 5½% to 6% when held to maturity. And the maturity period on Series E Bonds is shorter, too. Now E Bonds mature in 5 years, with a first-year rate of 4½%.

Series H Bonds, with a 10-year maturity, will earn 5% the first year; 5.8% for the next four years; and 6½% for the last five years. This gives you an average 6% yield over the 10-year period.

It works for Bonds you now hold, too. There's no reason to redeem your older Bonds to buy new ones.

Their yield has improved, too.

All outstanding E Bonds will receive a ½% increase in yield for each semiannual interest period beginning on or after December 1, 1973, payable upon redemption. This also applies to any Freedom Shares you may still hold.

All outstanding H Bonds will receive a ½% yield increase for each semiannual interest period beginning on or after December 1, 1973. This is payable in the form of increased semiannual interest payments.

It all works to your advantage. Now, more than ever, it makes sense to buy higher-paying U.S. Savings Bonds and hold them to maturity or beyond.

TAKE FIVE

By John E. Wirges

The place is aptly named. In the old days one band of Indians passed another off the cliffs in a spear-and-club war over food. It's been called Massacre Canyon ever since.

And the name is as fitting today as it was back in the beginning. 'Cause up on the hill over looking the modern golf course Kenny Norton is getting ready to do battle with the heavyweight champion of all the world, and Baja California, George Foreman.

Norton plans a ripoff. He's after Foreman's title. "And that's not it," says Kenny. "That's when."

The two meet in a 15 round, or less, bit of madness on March 26 in Caracas, Venezuela. The location takes a bit of understanding, but the match is a natural. Both are young, hard punching and strong.

Foreman, it will be recalled, took the title from Joe Frazier in a bombing that reminded oldsters of Coventry during the blitz.

Six times Big George sent Joe to the canvas. And the fight only lasted two rounds. There hadn't been anything like it since Custer took the count in a knockout at Little Big Horn.

Nort got his name at home, in the Sports Arena ring. He's been campaigning for some six years, but mostly he couldn't get decent bouts. It wasn't that he was too good. He was too strong.

Kenny has muscles made of steel and there are reports that he can outrun a speeding train and leap over medium-sized buildings in a single bound.

His waist gets down to an indecent 29 inches in training. And his chest expands to a powerful 52. He makes portly types like this portable pounder seem downright puny.

He's so strong that if he got one more muscle, he'd split his skin. He stands 6-3 and wants to come in around 210 for the battle with Foreman.

He did something nobody else in the fight game has ever been able to do. He broke Cassius-Muhammad-Clay-Al's jaw and shut his up for a piece of time. All was so impressed he gave Nort his super-heavyweight body bag, which now hangs proudly in Kenny's training camp.

Nort was once asked what he ate to achieve such remarkable strength. He listed a quality diet of steak, eggs, tea and honey, fresh vegetables and such. Art Rivkin, one of Norton's financial sponsors, jumped in to say Kenny did it all on Coca Cola. Rivkin, if you care, is a VP in the local Coke bottling works.

Norton laughed off Rivkin's suggestion and immediately went to work showing how he gets ready for his thing. He runs. Six, eight, ten miles up and down mountains, every morning. It's part of his success that he likes to run.

After a light lunch and rest, he takes a walk. Then he's ready for the day's real work. He spars from four to eight rounds in the ring with hard hitting heavyweights. Guys that can smoke back. And he saves the fastest until last, making his task that much harder when he's tired.

Nort has even gone the last two heats of the day's occupation with welterweight contender Hedgemon Lewis, who moves lightly on his feet and has hands faster than a speeding bullet.

You will be able to get an idea of Norton's condition Friday night at the Coliseum when he tangles with Mac Foster, Wayne Kindred and Jerry Williams in six rounds of exhibition. Tough Tony Doyle, the big Irishman who hurt Ali now and again during pre-Norton training at the Le Baron Hotel, faces San Franciscan Richie Gosha in the featured bout.

It looks like a leather flinging night worth remembering.

And after you see how well along Norton is in getting primed for Foreman, remember he has five-plus more weeks of training to go. He thrives on hard work. It's a carry over from his days in the Marines. If it can be done the hard way, Norton does it that way.

And when, as he says — not if, he captures the heavyweight title we'll all be able to say we knew him when he was a corporal. Be kind to those servicemen, brother. They may grow up to be famous.

Freitas and Simpson Sign Charger Pacts

Former Aztec star quarterback Jesse Freitas has signed a "multi-year" contract with the Chargers, it was announced Monday by Tommy Prothro, Charger coach.

Freitas was flanked by two attorneys who represented him in negotiations with World Football as well as the Chargers who drafted him sixth.

"I chose the Chargers over WFL offers because I wanted to play in the NFL and I wanted to play for San Diego," Freitas told the Monday meeting of Sportscasters/Sportswriters Assn. meeting at the 7 Seas-Hyatt House.

He declined to say what the variance between the Chargers and WFL offer was. "There were other things to consider than money," he said.

But he was positive about playing. "I'll be ready to play when the season starts," he said.

Prothro also announced that

Jackie Simpson had been appointed defensive coordinator of the team.

Simpson was defensive backfield coach for the Chargers in 1967-1971; assistant coach at Houston in 1972 and St. Louis in 1973.

A guard and linebacker at U. of Mississippi, Simpson had an eight-year pro career as a linebacker with Oakland and Denver of the AFL and Montreal and Winnipeg of the Canadian League. He joined the Chargers as scout in 1966 and became a coach in 1967.

Prothro said Monday that he was looking for a defensive line coach and a special team coach "then we'll start thinking about football," he said.

The affair will start at 6 p.m. and reservations may be made through the Pack or through Irene M. Watson at 460-8421.

Lazetich was drafted No. 8 by the Chargers in 1972. He was All-American at Stanford U. and played in two Rose Bowl games.

Doctor's Home Robbed of $1,580

A physician's home in Casa de Oro was burglarized last week to the tune of $1,580 in stereo equipment, medical supplies and narcotics and jewelry, according to a report filed by Deputy Sheriff R. D. Hugen.

Hugen reported that Dr. James S. Sarkisian's home at 4851 Crestland was prowled after the front door was forced open during the doctor's three-day absence. Among items missing were 45 milligrams of morphine, 20 milligrams of valium, five syringes and 10 needles.

Taxpayers Get Good News: State Refunds Due Millions

Income tax time this year with social security number will mean some money come included, we are prepared to ing in instead of all of it go issue refunds within two days ing out for six and one-half after receiving the refund in-million Californians, State formation from the Franchise Controller Hugh Flournoy Tax Board which processes the returns," Flournoy said.

"In addition to more than 4.5 million persons who will file early will get their receive refunds because of funds early and avoid the de-overwithholding of their State income tax, there will be a of filings nearer the April 15 million more benefitting solely from the one-time special tax credit approved by the Legislature, and another 750,000 who will receive only the refund for the new tax credit for renters," Flournoy said.

"When these are combined with over 226,000 refunds to non-withholding taxpayers, the total payments will far exceed the $369 million re-funded to income taxpayers last year since many taxpay-ers will qualify for all three payments."

Flournoy said over four million refunds to withholding taxpayers last year averaged about $78, and refunds for non-withholding taxpayers averaged about $165. This pattern is expected to repeat this year even though there will be more taxpayers receiving these refunds.

"We also know that virtually all of the estimated eight million State income taxpay-ers will be entitled to claim the one-time special tax credit which ranges from 20 percent of the net tax liability up to the 100 percent, but there is no previous experience to indicate what the total cost will be," the controller said.

"Similarly, the tax credit such as renters can range from $25 to $45 per applicant, making it difficult to predict a total cost."

Flournoy urged taxpayers to look on Page 2 of the State Income Tax Form 540 for special instructions concerning the one-time special tax credit, and the tax credit for renters.

"If those instructions are followed and the tax form is properly completed and signed come tax return.

Aztec Cagers Have Two on the Road

The San Diego State U. basketball team heads into the second round PCAA play this week, traveling to Los Angeles State for an 8 p.m. game Friday and to Fresno State for an 8 p.m. game on Saturday.

Both games can be heard on KFMB Radio (760) with Ron Reina calling the action.

Los Angeles State and Fresno State met twice last week with Fresno taking both games. The Bulldogs, 14-5 overall and 3-3 in the PCAA, won the first meeting 64-55 and the second 85-78.

The Diablos saw their record fall to 14-8 overall and 4-3 in the PCAA. The losses to Fresno halted an eight game Los Angeles win streak.

Forwards Charles Bailey and Roy Jones continue to pace Fresno State, scoring at 22.1 and 17.6 respectively. The Aztecs topped Fresno State 57-56 in the first meeting between the two teams. John Anderson was the big man for the Aztecs in that Aztec win with 19 points and 14 rebounds.

Clair Burgener Seeks Reelection

U. S. Representative Clair W. Burgener said he will seek re-election for a second term in the Congress of the United States.

Burgener, a Republican, will seek his party's nomination in the new 43rd District. This new district, created by the recent action of the California State Supreme Court, will contain virtually all of North and East San Diego County, plus all of Imperial County and a relatively small portion of Riverside County (some 6 1/2% of that county's population).

In making his announcement, Burgener said, "It will be a real challenge for anyone to represent this new district. It is a district that goes from La Jolla on the west, to the Arizona border on the east, from Spring Valley in the south, to Sun City in Riverside County on the north."

"While 75% of this new district contains population and communities that I have served for many years, about 25% of it will be new territory for me. What it really means is a great deal of travel, by automobile and by air, to properly cover the territory in — not just at campaign time but all the time. There is no way to adequately serve a district without being physically in all parts of it as frequently as humanly possible."

Burgener is a former member of the State Senate Committee on Water and Agriculture.

Crain said, at the current conference, that he had raised $2,000 for his primary but that he was more electable than other Democratic candidates because of his experience as a member of the Democratic Central Committee.

Four other Democrats are properly cover the territory in — not just at campaign time but all the time. There is no way to adequately serve a district without being physically in all parts of it as frequently as humanly possible."

Mt. Miguel Eases By Granite Hills

By Bob Ludwig
The Mount Miguel Matadors defeated the Granite Hills Eagles Friday night in a high scoring contest, 93-82.

The Matadors now hold a 6-4 league record and are in fourth place behind Monte Vista, Grossmont, and Helix with 8-2 records.

The game resulted in five Matadors and two Eagles in double figures. Burwyn Parker led Mount Miguel with 21 points and close behind were Jess Jenner and Steve Solomon with 20 and 19 points respectively. The other two Matadors hitting in double figures were Dale Hoffman, 12 points, and Ruban Ray, 10.

Granite Hills score was high although the team was only able to land two of its players in double figures. The two players though combined for 60 of the Eagles 82 points. High scorer was forward Tom Ford, who put in 35 points, and just behind him was center Gary Moore, who hit for 25 points.

Mount Miguel, who is always tough, defeated league leader Monte Vista last Tuesday 66-63 to snap its undefeated record in League play at nine games.

Steve Solomon, Dale Hoffman, and Ruban Ray each had 12 points for the Matadors followed by Bob Baxter with 10 points.

Monte Vista had the three high scorers for the game in Howard Grunloh 15 points, Richard Ridgway 14 points, and Bill Bunting 13 points.

The Matadors, who have used the platoon system for the past six games, have had great success winning five of their games. Their only loss in those six games came at the hands of Grossmont when they lost 84-83 in overtime.

This Friday Mount Miguel will host Santana on the Matadors Court at 8.

Love Starts Comeback; Ken Norton Here Fri.

Fans watched two tests being conducted Friday night at Mickie Davies' House of Swat.

One: Would former State featherweight champion Bobby Valdez make it as a referee? It was his first professional appearance as the third man in the Coliseum ring.

He made it! Second: Would middleweight boxer David Love be successful in his comeback try against Jose Martin Flores after suffering three defeats in a row?

He made it. And masterfully, too. It was the Coliseum's 10-round main go. The crowd was thin but Love showed enough stuff that he'll soon be packing 'em in again—and winning, too.

His three set loss was occasioned by some bad advice. His advisors didn't give him enough experience. They let him go against State Middleweight Champion George Salt Lake, against Richie Gosha of San Francisco. At Fresno, Cooper stopped him in the seventh although Love gave a pretty good account of himself until he was decked and counted out in seven.

With his morale low, he was pitted against one of the most exciting middleweights in the ring today — Renato Garcia of Chile. Renato served up a split decision. In a rematch he knocked Love out. Many fight fans see Renato as the coming world champ. It was a bad match-up. Love needed more experience. Thus Friday's fight was crucial for Love. Could he recover his confidence? He could and did.

Love is an excellent boxer with good moves and hard jabbs. Love dominated his foe — the brawler Flores. He won a unanimous decision.

Streak Started
Love says he was satisfied with his fight. He will take more time between matches and run up another winning streak that will make him the premiere draw at the Coliseum.

This week is the week of the heavyweights. Fans will be able to see Ken Norton in one of his few public appearances before he meets George Foreman for the championship late next month. It is billed as an exhibition—but Norton never exhibits. He fights at full tilt whenever he enters the ring. This week he shows his wares against former contender Mac Foster and two other sparring partners, each for two rounds.

Also on the heavyweight program is Tony Doyle, of Salt Lake, against Richie Gosha of San Francisco. Doyle was Muhammad Ali's sparring partner prior to the Norton fight. He has a 38-13-1 record. Gosha has broken even in 30 fights since turning pro. Hildo Silva will go against Bobby Stewart in a 10-round semi-main heavy.

The card is completed with two other four-round heavyweight brawls. Donnie Nelson meets Al Borchie and Melvin Marshall fights Sonny Wilson. It'll be a heck of a night for those fans who admire the splat and splatter of the big boys.

Tickets are $10, $7.50, $6 and $3. Reservations may be made at 232-8362.

Leewood Loses $4,000 in Theft

Over $4,000 in cash and checks was taken last week from the Leewood Trailer Court, Manager Lavonne L. Waker reported to Deputy Sheriff R. A. Lindsay.

Mrs. Walker said that she locked the cash drawer and office when she left for the night on February 5. When she returned the next morning, the drawer had been jimmied and a grey metal cash box, containing $300 cash and $3,811 in checks — many of them social security checks, were missing.

Area Girl Scouts Celebrating International Friendship Month

February is International Friendship month for Girl Scouts and Girl Guides in 91 countries around the world.

Girl Scouts from the Grove-Mesa Educational Center (Lemon Grove and La Mesa area) presented a program "A World of Friendship" on Feb. 10 at the La Mesa Jr. High School. Flags from 50 countries where there are Girl Scouts decorated the stage. The opening flag ceremony was done by Karen Argu-bright, Carolyn Regas, Shirley Finley, Susan Sheppard, Lynnea Lindsey and Danita Oswalt of Cadette troop 241. Folk dances from foreign countries were performed by the following troops, Sweden—Jr. Troop 735, Czechoslovakia—Jr. Troop 171, Germany—Jr. Troop 1038, Israel—Jr. Troop 234, Switzerland—Jr. Troop 6045, Sweden—Br. Troop 1095, Sicily—Jr. Troop 735. Troop 6045 sang the song "Our Chalet" and the whole group sang "It's A Small World".

Sharon Norr from Girl Scout Service Center talked about the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund. Girl Scouts contribute to this fund which helps provide funds for Girl Scouts to visit Scouts in other countries. This past summer six Scouts from San Diego Imperial Council visited Scouts in the Scandinavian countries.

The program ended with an impromptu skit about the current Sustaining Membership Enrollment drive. SME is held each year in February to help raise additional funds to operate, maintain and provide activities in the local San Diego-Imperial Girl Scout Council.

Another activity showing interest in international friendship was held Feb. 1 by Junior Girl Scout Troops 30 and 40 at the Girls Cottage in La Mesa. The Scouts had an International Dinner and earned World Association pins as part of a Thinking Day Celebration and World Friendship study. Each Scout was assigned a WAGGS (World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts) country, made a report and displayed a flag from the country and brought a food for a pot luck dinner from her WAGGS country. After dinner the girls had a candle lighting ceremony, sang world friendship songs and danced the German Broom Dance.

Mrs. Grace Tutterow, leader of troop 30 and Mrs. Rachel Mendell, leader of troop 40, were in charge. They were assisted by Barbara Copeland, Mary Durel and Cleo Anderson and guests attended.

Each troop in the area will have a special Thinking Day activity on February 22 which is the birthday of both Robert Baden-Powell and his wife, Oliva. Lord and Lady Baden-Powell were the founders of the Scouting Movement in England in 1910. Lady Baden-Powell will be 84 years old and is still the head of WAGGS.

The Department of Consumer Affairs has been alerted to a phoney photography firm operating in the San Francisco area. San Francisco police warned consumers in that vicinity and later several suspects were apprehended. Others may be involved and heading for other California cities to prey on unsuspecting consumers.

There are legitimate photo companies, but consumers should be very careful when dealing with door-to-door photographers. They may make deceptive promises and presentations when trying to sell photos—or even just take your money and disappear.

There are a number of different tactics fraudulent photo companies use. In one popular scheme, the company goes door-to-door or phones to make an appointment. Later the "photographer" arrives, takes the photo, and requests a fee be paid in cash. The consumer is informed the photos will be ready at a later date and—that's the last time the customer sees or hears from the company.

The Department of Consumer Affairs suggests consumers follow these tips before dealing with door-to-door photographers. Check with local city and county licensing agencies to be sure the company or individuals are licensed to do business. Ask for exact prices for specific quantities of photos and compare them with the prices of reputable local studios. Be extremely cautious of "free" photo offers. Genuine giveaways are rare and actual costs may be hidden. Read and understand any sales agreement before you sign or make a down payment. Do not sign if there are blanks, where the price and terms are to be filled in later. Always obtain a copy of the agreement. If a problem arises and cannot be resolved with the company contact your local consumer protection agency for help. If you suspect fraud or deception notify law enforcement officials at once.

Roping, Barrel Races Set for S.D. Estates

SAN DIEGO COUNTY ESTATES—A series of monthly two and three-day team roping contests, beginning this weekend and ending in October, will be held in the rodeo arena of the Western Equestrian Center at this resort community 38 miles northeast of San Diego.

Teams will compete for jackpot purses and prize money, with top money winners being awarded trophy belt buckles and trophy saddles. The individual leading money winner for the year will also be awarded a horse trailer.

In addition to team roping, each event will feature barrel racing for girls, with jackpot prizes for the winners and a trophy belt buckle to the top money winner of each event. A number of "Century" events, where the combined ages of the team members must equal or exceed 100 years, are planned for the three-day weekend contests.

Officials of San Diego County Estates, sponsor of the program, said the team roping and barrel racing events are open to all, with entry fees ranging from $3.50 to $8.50 for team roping and $8.00 per day for barrel racing. Next meet is March 23, 24.

the federal charges, the high school district trustees dismissed him for supposedly unprofessional conduct on June 28, 1973.

Kahan took the matter to court, suing for reinstatement and back pay. Judge Eli Levenson ruled that Kahan should continue in his present classroom and is entitled to back pay as well as legal fees. Kahan's attorney, Kevin McInerney, is asking for $7,200. Back pay may run from $8,000 to $13,000, the attorney said.

I write this letter out of pure frustration.

I read Judge Woodworth's sentencing of Joseph Di Bella, the young man who stabbed to death his estranged wife. Judge Woodworth stated "He is a decent young man except for this one incident", but the law requires a 15 year sentence for the crime of voluntary manslaughter, but in view of the man as a man, Judge Woodworth sentenced 1 to 15 years.

For the better part of 2 weeks, I sat in a courtroom and listened to evidence presented for and against my son-in-law.

This young man had struggled through growing up with a varied number of emotional problems. He met and married my daughter, he enlisted in the Navy while others fled the country so they would not have to serve it. Because of his physical and emotional problems, he developed an ulcer while in the service.

Upon completion of his four years, he, his wife and their daughter returned home. He did not lay around and draw his unemployment, but had a job in two weeks. In the last year he had worked his way up in classification and had been given several raises. Life was to a point where things were looking up and soon they would be able to start their systematic savings program for the home they had not been able to afford before.

Then it all happened, mind, pressure to succeed, who knows. Three psychiatrists, during the trial, all agreed that he needed medical help and hospitalization, two stated he was out of touch with reality at the time he stabbed Carol Vakonen to death, on her way to school that morning.

We did not want freedom for this boy, only help, so this could never happen again.

Our deep sorrow has gone to the Valkonen family, who in return have expressed their sorrow for ours, for they are understanding and loving to the point of being beautiful.

I know this letter will do no physical good, but I had to cry out my desperation for my son-in-law, who I love most dearly, and to state that, I feel Judge Jack Levett could have served justice and given Jerry the help he needed without adding to his emotional problems, by labeling him a FIRST DEGREE MURDERER, and sentencing him to life in prison.

Sincerely
Donna Jean Sess

SV Animal Shelter Moves in 18 Months

Spring Valley's county animal shelter will be phased out in about 18 months following a board of supervisors approval last week of a work schedule to build a new one.

The shelter, at 1661 Jamaica Blvd., will move to an 18-acre lot at the southwest corner of Sweetwater Road and State Highway 541.

Plans call for the expenditure of $400,000 to construct the new shelter. When built, the animals that now reside in Spring Valley Park will no longer be housed in the area.

'Kovacs' Films Twice Today

A documentary film on the life and works of the late Ernie Kovacs will be presented at 1:30 p.m. today in the College Grove Shopping Center Community Hall and at 8 p.m., in the Student Center at Grossmont College, to close the popular series, "The Pursuit of Excellence" sponsored by Grossmont College's Office of Community Services.

"Kovacs" brings together the rare, unique and classic best of the material exactly as it was presented and preserved during the 50's and early 60's. Ernie Kovacs was a prime mover of visual-electronic comedy during his 10 years on television and he still occupies a special place in the minds of many devotees of visual comedy. The one and one-half hour film will include his comedy creations, the "Mack the Knife" routine, "The Nairobi Trio" of musical apes and "Percy Dovetonsils" as well as some of his memorable synopsed sequences in which inanimate objects perform rhythmically to symphonic music.

The public is invited to enjoy a look at the work of one of television's most creative comedians. There is no charge for admission.

Drunk Drivers Face License Suspension

Almost 26,000 California motorists, arrested on suspicion of driving while intoxicated in 1973, refused to take a blood alcohol test and consequently faced a six-month suspension of their drivers licenses.

According to Lloyd G. Turner, Chief of the State Office of Traffic Safety, the 1973 total increased about 20 percent over the 1972 figure of 21,560. "This strict enforcement of California's 'implied consent' law is further proof of our determination to remove the drinking driver from our streets and roads," Turner said. He added that total drinking driver arrests exceeded 200,000 during the year.

The seven-year old implied consent law is a regulation that states that any licensed driver on a public street has "implied" his "consent" to a chemical test for alcohol if placed under arrest.

Refusal to submit to, or failure to complete the test, will cause loss of the license for a period of six months.

Turner explained that the arrested person has a choice of blood, breath or urine test. But he does not have the right to consult with an attorney or doctor before deciding which test to take. Nor does he have the right to an attorney or doctor during the test.

Companion legislation, the "presumptive limits" law, says that a driver with a blood alcohol level of .10 percent or higher is "presumed" under the influence.

Turner added that of the more than 200,000 persons arrested for drinking driving last year, the average blood alcohol level was .22 percent.

West is the stepfather of Henry Eckler and lives with Mr. and Mrs. Eckler at their home at the Mt. Vernon street address. She was the former Lena H. Eckler.

He uses a hearing aid but his eyesight and mental faculties are good. He quotes long passages from the Bible and enters into competition with the teevee contestants.

Highway Maintainers Easy Auto Targets

Working within a temporarily closed lane of a busy urban freeway can literally make a highway maintenance man an easy target for a speeding automobile.

That is one of the principal findings of the first phase of a task force study looking into the incidence of injuries to maintenance and construction workers on the state's highways.

Over 125 of these men have been injured by passing cars and trucks during the past three years, and 5 men have been killed.

Other activities the task force found hazardous involve patching of the pavement, flagging traffic, and repair of the space between roadways—anything that takes the men out into the stream of traffic. John F. Maloney, deputy man an easy target for a for operations of the state's Department of Transportation (CALTRANS) said that motorists often disregard or misunderstand the bring orange warning signs and guideline speed signs that the highway workers use to warn motorists that they are working on the roads.

"The motorist often doesn't understand the importance of what the work crew is doing," Maloney says. "He gets angry at the possibility of delay, and continues to drive at unsafe speeds."

The task force is also looking into work schedules to see that road work is being done at the safest possible time.

"Currently, many maintenance activities are performed during late evening or early morning hours when traffic is lightest," Maloney said. "But we've found that the higher percentage of drunk drivers on the road at these times may actually increase the danger for maintenance workers."

Composed of members of CALTRANS, the California Highway Patrol, and employee organizations, the task force will now go on to develop improved work procedures to protect the men.

Contractor Awarded

Rancho San Diego, now in active development as a new town in San Diego County, has awarded a contract for the grounds and recreation park maintenance for its first residential area, Sweetwater Village West.

Percy H. Goodwin Management Company received the award for day-to-day supervision of the common areas of the two hundred acre residential area, including the first of two complete recreational facilities, Hansen Park.

Given For Will West, 99 'Happy Birthday' Party

More than 25 guests paid lemons from the ranch. He birthday homage to one of personally planted and bud-Lemon Grove's oldest residents Thursday when William H. West, of 8452 Mt. Vernon st., marked his 99th birthday.

West is the stepfather of Henry Eckler and lives with Mr. and Mrs. Eckler at their home at the Mt. Vernon street address. She was the former Lena H. Eckler.

West was born in England and came to San Diego in 1903. He has lived in Lemon Grove since 1914. His health is surprisingly good for a man of his years. He uses a hearing aid but his eyesight and mental faculties are good. He quotes long passages from the Bible and enters into competition with the teevee contestants.

West has never been hospitalized, a condition that the Ecklers claim is the result of a steady diet of meat and potatoes. He moved in with the Ecklers soon after Eckler's mother died in 1949. Mrs. West was librarian here when the facility was a three-days-a-week operation.

$7,000.00 Worth of Lemons
West was a lemon rancher before his retirement. He had more than 18-acres of lemon on the sites which are now the Palm Junior high school and the Mt. Vernon Elementary school. He purchased the acreage for about $200.00 an acre and sold it for $6,000 an acre, Eckler said. One year he harvested $7,000 worth of
